Cambodia Airways signs long-term agreement with Sabre to support ambitious growth objectives

January 8, 2019

SINGAPORE, Jan. 8, 2019 /PRNewswire/ -- Sabre Corporation (NASDAQ: SABR), the leading technology provider to the global travel industry, today announced a new, long-term distribution agreement with Cambodia Airways. While considered a relatively new entrant to the market, operating since July 2018, the airline has ambitious plans and aims to quickly transform into a major regional carrier.

"By selecting Sabre as our first distribution partner, we are confident that we are well-positioned to execute our expansion plan, both domestically and across Southeast Asia. Sabre is, without a doubt, the strategic ally that will allow us to achieve our business objectives as we shift our focus towards developing new routes and markets," said Kevin Fu, chief financial officer, Cambodia Airways.

In line with the rapid development of the country's tourism industry, Cambodia Airways is eager to pursue its growth trajectory and begin operating routes to China and Hong Kong. With concrete plans to bolster its fleet with up to 30 aircrafts within the next five years, the airline also expects to expand its intercontinental routes beyond Asia. The long-term partnership agreement with Sabre will be instrumental as the carrier focuses on enhancing their presence in key destinations, including Australia and Europe.

"Sabre is pleased to contribute to Cambodia Airways' ongoing business achievements. By joining Sabre's rich global travel marketplace, the full-service carrier will now be connected to over 425,000 agents globally, expanding the airline's reach to travel buyers around the world. Sabre will partner with and actively support Cambodia Airways as they move into the next phase of their strategic growth plan," said Rakesh Narayanan, vice president, air line of business, Sabre Travel Network Asia Pacific.
